

Dark Skies in Shropshire

One would think that being in Shropshire we would have an abundance of 'dark skies'. It is true that we are fortunate to be able to find a wide range of observing sites away from the population centres of Shrewsbury and Telford. The society does hold a number of events in collaboration with the land owners throughout the year.

However for those in the south of the county you could do worse than check out the following approved dark sky sites in and around Church Stretton. Click here for more details.
